

EXHIBITOR INFORMATION

For the Gulf
Coast O&G
Industry, the Road to Recovery Begins
in San Antonio

Why? Because the process of finding more energy reserves begins with exploration geoscience, and the Gulf Coast Association of Geological Societies, its members in industry and academia, and its publications, scholarship support, and agency and university partnerships remain the discipline's collective repository. In so many ways, our association represents the mechanism to ensure continuity for the long-term future. As large numbers of senior employees vacate their positions, all of us will play an integral roll in passing on vast amounts of knowledge to the next generation. Please support GCAGS by exhibiting at this year's annual convention –and make a wise marketing move in the process!
